Typefaces

Arvo

Arvo is a geometric slab-serif typeface family suited for screen and print. The family includes 4 cuts: Roman, Italic, Roman Bold, Bold Italic. It is a libre font, first published in Google Fonts. The flavor of the font is rather mixed. It's monolinear-ish, but has a tiny bit of contrast (which increases the legibility a little in Mac OS X.) This font has a similar appearance as Franklin Gothic which is the font used in the KitNipBox logo.

Poppins

Poppins is geometric in style, clean, and includes 18 different font weights, from thin to black. Thanks to this range of font styles and the font's open feel (as you can see in the loops of the "p" and "o" above), this font is great for both headlines and paragraph copy to improve readability and style.
